

No action by the FCC should be taken that gives a select few ever more control of the media. This action will significantly impact on our democracy. The bedrock of our democracy is the ability of citizens to vote on issues of public concern. How can citizens do this with any wisdom, or even just plain common sense, when the media, and the entire governmental apparatus, is in the hands of representatives of a few extraordinarily wealthy corporations. The miracle of our democracy is in crisis--please help stop the downward spiral.

Patricia A. Friedland